The 2-day Inca Trail

TRIP LENGTH: Two days
STARTS AND ENDS: Cusco

This two-day trip is a terrific option for those who want to experience the beauty and wonder of arriving to Machu Picchu on foot, but don't have time for the full four-day trek. Or perhaps you'd like to do some hiking in Peru but also have other ideas for the rest of your travels. Either way, this trip is a wonderful way to experience trekking in Peru, and you get to explore two of our favourite ruins – Wiñay Wayna and Machu Picchu!

Permits to walk the trail can run out months in advance – so if you know you want to hike the Inca Trail, you should book it as soon as you can to secure your spot.

Day 1 Hike to Machu Picchu

An early start and a spectacular train ride take us to KM104 and the start of our trail. We start by visiting the Chachabamba archaeological complex, then hike three hours straight uphill to Wiñay Wayna, another beautiful archaeological complex which is also the last campsite on the four-day Inca Trail. We'll have lunch here before walking a further one to two hours to the Sun Gate and our first spectacular view of Machu Picchu. From here it is just 30 minutes more of hiking gently downhill until we are among the ruins of Machu Picchu, from where we'll ride the bus ride down to the town of Aguas Calientes where we'll stay the night.

Accommodation: Hotel in Aguas Calientes
Meals: Lunch and dinner included
Min. Altitude: 2,100m (6,888ft)
Max. Altitude: 2,700m (8,860ft)

Day 2 Explore Machu Picchu!

A spectacular stone city surrounded by incredibly steep, incredibly green mountains, Machu Picchu needs no introduction and is deservedly one of the new Seven Wonders of the World.

We'll be up at sunrise so there's time for your guide to show you around Machu Picchu's main citadel, as well as our favourite hidden nooks and crannies, before the crowds arrive. Then there's time for your own exploration of the massive, still-mysterious site, before we catch the train back to Cusco.
